FUNERAL
Mrs. Elsie L. Dewey.
The body of Mrs. Georgiana B. Dewey, a former resident of New London, was laid at rest in Maplewood cemetery, Norwich, Saturday afternoon. Rev. C. H. Ricketts, pastor of the Greenville Congregational church, officiated at the funeral. Mrs. Dewey died at Staunton, Va., in February and the body was placed in the Maplewood cemetery vault.

Mrs. Dewey was the widow of Elsie L. Dewey, a native of Groton, a railroad contractor, who died 12 years ago in Mexico. She is survived by a son, Lyman H. Dewey of Staunton, Va., and a daughter, Miss Leonie A. Dewey of this city. She also leaves a brother, Charles H. Benjamin of Norwich, and a sister, Mrs. L. L. Davis of Worcester, Mass.

How to Banish Piles

Thousands Bless Dr. Leobhardt, the Physician Who Discovered a Common Sense Remedy.

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the misery of piles, it is because you haven't heard of the new treatment known as Dr. Leobhardt's HEM-ROID.

The doctor's treatment is internal. By experimenting for years he discovered the exact cause of piles and then went further and compounded a remedy that would remove the cause.

TELEPHONE VACATION HOUSE
The Vacation house at Woodmont for the girl employees of the S. N. E. Telephone Co. was formally opened Saturday by a dance. Fifty guests are registered to remain over Decoration Day. On Friday there was a ceremonial flag raising, or two of them. A large American flag was hoisted to the top of the high pole on the lawn in front of the house by Pres. James T. Moran, while Vice Pres. Harry C. Knight, unfurled a company flag from the staff on the front of the building. This flag has a white background with the letters S. N. E. T. Co. Vacation house in blue. As the flags were being raised Joseph E. Southern, advertising agent, sounded "To the Colors" on a bugle.

The dinner was an excellent one prepared in the best style of Steward Chandler who will manage this detail of the Vacation house through the season.

OBITUARY

Mrs. James H. Johnson

After an illness of some duration, Gertrude Knowlton, wife of James H. Johnson, died at her home, No. 7 Washington street, Monday evening, about 8:30 o'clock.

Surviving are her husband and two children.

The death of Mrs. James H. Johnson, assistant city missionary of the United Workers, removes from the ranks of that organization one who as student, teacher, nurse, caretaker and assistant mission worker, served that body for nearly 34 years.

She was deeply interested in the Girls' Bureaux club, of which she was a member almost from the date of its organization in 1887. She entered with whole-souled interest into its classes in gymnastics, travel, embroidery and cooking, was caretaker of No. 9 Washington street, headquarters for several years.

She was nurse at the Sheltering Arms district visitor and supply nurse in the community, and since 1916 has served as assistant mission worker for the United Workers.

She came to this work out of an experience in welfare activities which enabled her to fit in easily into almost every form of service to the community. Her cheerful presence, ready sympathy, wise counsel, her delight in, and devotion to her work in every capacity made her a welcome member of the homes where she went and the relation to members who called upon her for assistance, much warmer than official.

The records of the United Workers speak more than for her "faithfulness," her "readiness to help in every kind of work," to sympathize and comfort, "her kind heart and willing hands," "her invariably kind and ready service," "her large and difficult place in the activities of the United Workers, in the Christ-like spirit of those to whom it was said:

"I was hungry and ye gave me to eat; I was thirsty and ye gave me to drink; I was a stranger and ye took me in; naked and ye clothed me; I was sick and ye visited me; I was in prison and ye came unto me." She has her reward.

Miss Emma J. Caulkins, a well known resident of Black Point, died at her home Saturday following an lingering illness. She was born in Waterford June 24, 1857, the daughter of John T. and Elizabeth Lloyd Caulkins. She leaves a brother, George Caulkins of New London, and several other relatives.

Mrs. H. Pascal Beckwith, wife of H. Pascal Beckwith, died Sunday evening at the residence of her son, William E. Orendon, at Ocean Beach. Death was due to heart disease.

Mrs. Beckwith was born Dec. 12, 1833, at Westerly, R. I., the daughter of John and Mary Thurston. When 18 years old she married W. Dennis Pendleton of Mystic, whose death occurred five years later. She then moved to New London with her little children and in 1882 she married Mr. Beckwith of Waterford.

About 35 years ago they moved to New London and resided in Truman street. During the past two years Mrs. Beckwith and her husband have been in the home with Mr. and Mrs. Pendleton at Ocean Beach.

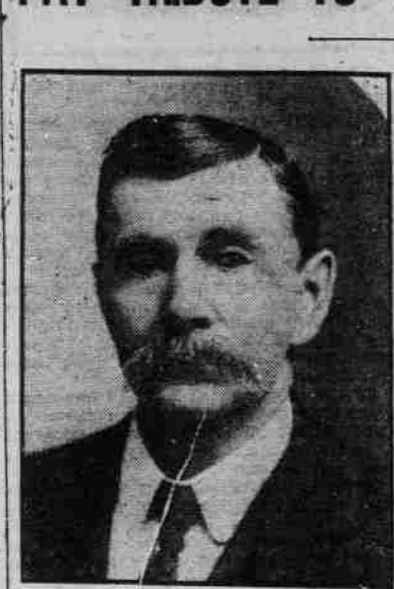

Besides her husband, Mrs. Beckwith is survived by Mrs. John Newbury of Springfield, Mass.; Mr. E. Pendleton of New London, a daughter and son by her first marriage; four grandchildren, Frank Pendleton of New London, Anna Hazeltine of Springfield and Mrs. Anna Armstrong of Elmira, N. Y.; and six great-grandchildren, Edward and Catherine Armstrong, Harold Parsons, Walter and Paul Hazeltine and Thurston Benson Pendleton of Bridgeport.

Mrs. Beckwith was a member of the First Baptist church of New London.

Mrs. Fred A. King, Mabel O. Wheaton, wife of Fred A. King, died at her home at 36 Oakridge street Monday afternoon, following a short illness. Mrs. Wheaton who is well known in Norwich, was born in Colchester on April 17, 1882, the daughter of Joseph and Sarah Peckham Wheaton. The greater portion of her life has been spent in this city and vicinity. She is survived by her husband and two daughters.

Mrs. Charles S. Avery, The death of Ann Maria, wife of former Senator Charles S. Avery, occurred this (Tuesday) morning at 12:45 o'clock at her home, No. 41 Grove street. She had been in poor health for a number of months.

PAY TRIBUTE TO THE NATION'S DEAD

ORIN M. PRICE
Sedgwick Post Commander

Smiling skies beamed kindly all day Monday on the veterans of 61-65 for the annual observance of Memorial day and the annual observance of Memorial day and the annual observance of Memorial day.

Ideally weather made it possible for practically every member of the dwindling ranks of Sedgwick post, No. 1, G. A. R., to participate in the parade and public exercises of the day.

Veterans of two other wars, the Spanish war and the recent world war, the Sons of Veterans, state guard troops, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, made up the line of marchers on foot escorting the Civil war veterans who rode in automobiles while hundreds of citizens watched and applauded, all along the line of march from the Buckingham Memorial to the Chelsea parade.

Promptly at 2:32 p. m. Major Charles A. Hagberg, the marshal, gave the command to march. The parade band struck up a stirring quickstep and the line moved off on Main street towards Burnham square, where it counter-marched and proceeded back along Main street and up Washington street to Chelsea parade. About 350 were in line, of whom 45 were the Sedgwick post men in automobiles.

Parade Formation
The parade formation was as follows: Major Charles A. Hagberg, Marshal; Lieut. A. G. Jenkins, C. S. G.; Sgt. G. A. Turner, U. S. W. V.; Sgt. HAROLD T. ROBINSON; T. H. HARRIS, Scoutmaster; John M. Swain, Leader; Cos. E. and F. Conn. State Guard; Capt. W. R. Denison, Commanding; Lieut. H. C. Turner, U. S. W. V.; Earl C. Herrick, Commanding; Griswold Command, No. 6, U. S. W. V.; Clarence Rathbun, Commanding; Liberty Drum Corps; John Harris and Felix Debarros, Drum Majors; Boy Scouts; Scoutmaster Carlton Bowers, Commander; Ramble Troop, No. 2; Sons of Veterans.

George H. Dolan, Commander Sedgwick Post, Members in Automobiles City and Town Officials in Carriages.

At the parade the Sedgwick post marched to the stand in front of the Soldiers' monument through the open ranks of the escorting organizations.

Freeing the Grand Army exercises, a short memorial service was conducted around the flagstaff by the Spanish War Veterans, in which the ritual was rendered by Commander Clarence Rathbun and Chaplain George C. Turner and the flagstaff was decorated by E. Gerhardt.

The exercises at the stand, on which the officers of Sedgwick post, the speaker and the members of the other organizations were seated, followed immediately.

Commander Price's Address.
When the assemblage had been called to order by the sound of the bugle, Commander Orin P. Price of Sedgwick Post opened the exercises with the following words of greeting:

To His Honor, J. J. Desmond, Mayor of the City of Norwich, the members of the Common Council, Selectmen and other officers and members of our new military company, John P. Murphy; As commander of Sedgwick Post and in behalf of my comrades, I again welcome you to this public service and so you the officers and members of our new military company, who have done duty for us in the days gone by; also the Sons of Veterans and other comrades of our post, as well as the Boy Scouts, and to all who this day have gathered with us to pay honor to our patriotic dead who freely gave their lives for their country. Their memorable deeds will serve not only to make American citizenship in these days more respectable but also to maintain and perpetuate through future generations the union and authority of the United States of America. And again I wish to pay tribute to our World War Veterans who have done duty today to pay tribute to our noble dead and now that the world war has ended you have followed the example of our forefathers and victory has again come to the American people and the peace of the world is assured.

Let us mingle a tender sympathy for the living who have followed the example of our forefathers and victory has again come to the American people and the peace of the world is assured.

Let us mingle a tender sympathy for the living who have followed the example of our forefathers and victory has again come to the American people and the peace of the world is assured.

Let us mingle a tender sympathy for the living who have followed the example of our forefathers and victory has again come to the American people and the peace of the world is assured.

PLATE AND PERFECT THING, WE MIGHT STOP HERE AND SAY NO MORE. BUT DISORDERS AND DISEASES, KINDRED IN NATURE TO THOSE PRECEDING, THE OLDER GENERATIONS, CREATE OUR OWN DIVIDED HOUSEHOLD. AGAIN WE HAVE ENTERED THE PERIOD OF CRISIS, MORE VIOLENT, MORE PERTURBED, MORE UNCERTAIN THAN THAT OF THE EARLIER DAYS. VETERANS OF THE CIVIL WAR TOUCH SHOULDER WITH THOSE OF THE SPANISH WAR, AND THEY WITH THE IMMEDIATE SHOULDERS OF VETERANS OF THE WORLD WAR. FINISHED. AND THE MEMORIES OF LIVES GIVEN HEROICALLY FOR THE NATION, WHEN CRUEL AND BLASPHEMOUS FORCES NECESSITATED, MAKE US ASK, "WAS IT IN VAIN?" SHALL WE DEAL WITH MEMORIES MERELY TO REHEARSE OLD HEROISM, OR SHALL WE CALL UP MEMORIES TO STIMULATE NEWER DEDICATIONS? WE OUGHT TO SEE, WITH UTMOST CLARITY, THAT THE BEQUESTS OF THE ANCIENT ARE GIVEN TO US AS TRUSTEES. OUR OWN CONFLICTING DUTIES DEMAND THAT WE USE THEM TO THE LAST LIMIT.

What these men gave us is worthily needed by us in these latest days. The two great truths they bequeathed are facts we cannot possibly do without.

We must learn again the truths you gave us, for we need these truths more than anything else. We must make honor, justice, righteousness not mere terms of our lips but the attitude of our daily life in the occupations in which we are engaged. We thank you for your lives and your gifts. You lighted ancient altars and we will endeavor to keep these altars burning by our contact with the living God.

America and Taps.
The exercises concluded with the singing of America by the entire assemblage and the sounding of Taps on the bugle by Mr. Swain.

The march back to the Buckingham Memorial was down Broadway and at Union square all the organizations dropped out except the G. A. R. men, Spanish War Veterans, Sons of Veterans, and police platoon, which proceeded on to Memorial, accompanied by the band and drum corps.

At the Memorial the women of Sedgwick Relief corps served a fine luncheon supper to the veterans, both of the Civil war and the Spanish war, the Sons of Veterans and the police, having over 100 seated at the tables. The supper served under the direction of a committee of which Mrs. Gertrude Toolill was chairman, with the following assisting: Mrs. Florence Dean, Mrs. Lillian Johnson.

Parade Notes.
Officers Ebberts, Driscoll, O'Neill, M. Carroll, P. Murphy, Morgan, Delaney, Farrell, Casey and Fenton, under command of Capt. D. J. Twomey, made up the police platoon. The Norwich officers get little chance to do any marching in parades, but show they can do it in A-1 shape when they do appear.

Warren Lee Goss, the well known author of boys' books, came here from Rutherford, N. J., to be with his comrades of Sedgwick post for the Memorial day observance, which is his annual custom.

Automobiles to carry the G. A. R. veterans were furnished by Mrs. C. R. Gale, Henry G. Peck, C. A. Chamberlain, John Williams, R. O. Rodier, H. M. Leuen, Frank B. Davis, David D. Disco, W. L. Stearns, Judge Nelson J. Ayling, Rev. J. H. Selden, Charles E. Lamb and Dr. John D. Boynton. They were arranged for by Henry G. Peck of the Sons of Veterans.

Fletcher post, American Legion, paraded with the new American flag presented to it last week by the Norwich Elks. The following comprised the color guard: Color bearer, Ernest Batouelou, former first sergeant, 56th artillery; Innocenzo Rondino, ex-army man; and Albert T. Fairbanks, ex-naval man.

Spanish War Veterans were for the first time on Monday the new medal just granted to all Spanish war men 26 years after the war is over. It is of bronze with a green ribbon with two yellow stripes in it.

Griswold command, U. S. W. V., made a particularly good appearance, all in uniform and headed by the color guard with the American flag and the big red Spanish war flag.

Seventy-five automobiles were counted parked along the west curb on Washington street from Sachem street south to Broad street. They were so thick that hardly another could have been crowded in.

Boy Scouts refreshed the veterans by passing around water after the parade had been seated on the benches in front of the stand on Chelsea parade.

Members of Sedgwick post remarked that an unusually generous spirit was shown this year in the way of contributions and assistance in the observance of Memorial day.

Both the Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts carried American flags and made a good appearance.

Few men along the line of march seemed to know that patriotic courtesy calls for removing the hat when the American flag passes by in a parade.

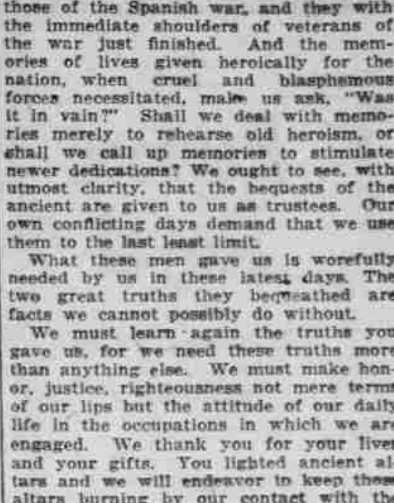

CONNECTICUT TROLLEYMEN TO TAKE VOTE TONIGHT
It was announced from New Haven Monday night that trolleyemen employed by the Connecticut Company in all parts of the state are to vote at meetings this (Tuesday) evening on a wage proposition made by the company. Food That Gives Real Strength

Elements of Nourishment Are Contained In Father John's Medicine

The reason that you get real strength and actual, increased weight from Father John's Medicine is because the elements of nourishment contained in this old-fashioned, food tonic are so prepared that the weakened system easily takes them up and turns them into new tissue and strength. In this way alone can real strength be built up. Many persons become thin and run-down because they do not get these food elements in their diet and in such cases a tonic food such as Father John's Medicine is a vital necessity at this season of the year. Guaranteed free from alcohol or dangerous drugs.

LOSERS GAS TANK BUT KEEPS GOING
One local motorist recently had an unusual accident happen to him a stub road between Norwich and New London. This motorist states that after arriving in Norwich he found that somewhere on the road he had lost his gasoline tank but that he did not know when he and the tank parted company. His machine did not stop and he came along as though nothing had happened, although the supply of gasoline was trying in the road somewhere. He explains the accident by stating that he probably had enough gasoline in his tank to bring him to the city after losing his main tank.
